

Gastón Santisteban Martínez

I am a Physicist holding a Master of Science on Atmospheric Physics which I got in the Atmospheric Science Centre of the National Autonomous University of Mexico. I have been working with the Climatic Models group of the same Centre doing some data assimilation and hydrological simulations. My research interests are hydrological modeling and the developing of tools to assess water availability and vulnerability of watersheds due to the climate change.