

Gustavo Almeida

Gustavo Almeida received a Lic in Atmospheric Sciences from the University of Buenos Aires (UBA) in Argentina. He is currently a Scientific Investigator at National Institute of Water of Argentina, in the area of hydrometeorology. On the other hand, cooperate with the National Weather Service in the area of climate forecasting of precipitation in La Plata Basin and health and meteorological extremes, and he is an assistant teacher in Meteorology at UBA. At the present time Gustavo is pursuing a PhD degree in Atmospheric Sciences, in the area of health and meteorological extremes.