

Ma. Gabriela Escobar

Ma. Gabriela Escobar is an oceanographic student; she's finishing the bachelor in The Escuela Superior Politecnica del Litoral (ESPOL), Ecuador. She has some experience in coastal oceanographic research, and basic knowledge in oceanic, atmospheric and hydrodynamic modeling.

She has worked in climate variability research as an interchange student in Universidade de São Paulo, variability in Cromwell current and the influence of temperature in tuna captures in ESPOL.